NOUVELLES DIVERSES

Up in the Engadine, Near Pontresina, Switzerland, years ago our walking parties kicked and scraped the snow aside to pick flowers growing beneath the snow.

The First Spring Blouses Are appealing and distinctive.

It was worth the trouble!

Many new notes—different colors—different lines—are found in the charming new blouses in the Blouse Shop. Blouses made of antique lace that possess infinite grace. Blouses in the becoming new toast shade—sometimes touched up with a dash of orange ribbon. A lovely touch of color is introduced with French flowers on several models.

So also it is often well worth while to quietly dig down through chilly human nature and find beautiful things growing under the frozen surface.

The lace blouse returns—made differently. One in particular, made on a chiffon lining, is a dream of loveliness; not exquisitely embroidered; real filet lace outlines the square neck line and gives a panel effect in front. A clever little spray of French flowers is a delightful finishing touch, $59.50.

It is common in certain kinds of rock to find gold mixed with quartz.

Another very good blouse is a braided Georgette crepe, $24.50. A long rolling collar edged with filet lace makes another model particularly pretty. It is in the softest pastel shades—blue—gray, flesh and white, $19.75.

Our aim in storekeeping is to make the Store reveal something more than the people expect.

Quite a few excellent models at $12.75, in white or flesh Georgette crepe, some with frills, some rolling collars; details all carefully designed. Third floor, Old Building.

Old English Glass Finger-bowls Au Quatrieme

Complete services of Old English glass finger-bowls in lovely shapes and color are part of the collection of old glass Au Quatrieme. In Georgian green, apple green, pink, puce and pale sulphur yellow, they are not only lovely as finger-bowls, but as vases for short-stemmed flowers they are charming. The designs vary from bowl-shaped to a form with a tiny flange with two lips. Prices $3, $4.50, $6, $8 and $10.

Old English single glasses in Georgian green, apple green and white are also in the collection of old English glass Au Quatrieme.

The February Furniture Sale

WE didn't start the February Sale of Furniture a day too soon. The people were ready. They wanted the service. They came—in larger numbers than to any previous February Sale. They are coming, every day. Some are taking the furniture now. Some are making selections, and will take the furniture after February 2. We will extend that courtesy to all who wish it. It is with more than a million dollars of home furniture at savings of 10 to 33 per cent—every piece of our regular stocks included (except office furniture and the special collections in Les Galeries Belmason and Au Quatrieme).

A Great Furniture Sale

Good furniture—plenty of it—low prices

Immaculately Tailored Suits for Spring

Now On View in the Women's Suit Salons

The severely tailored slimly-lined costume is always the refuge of the smart and conservative woman when she wishes to be distinctive, in a season when distinction is to be gained by charm of line and beauty of tailoring rather than by extravagance of material and elaborate design.

One grows very intolerant of suits that suggest no restraint on the part of the designer.

The slim tailored costume is the aristocrat at all times.

Two New Models

One of midnight blue tricotine made on simple straight lines and gifted with a little straight vest of silver cloth that forms a perfectly unbroken line down the front—a line very becoming to most women. The long notch collar is another feature of this suit—an unusually good collar that carries out the long line idea and gives an austere touch to the costume. The pockets and part of the bodice of the coat are touched with embroidery in black silk.

The other suit is of equal simplicity, has a clever collar, is long of line and original of cut. A white tricotie suit distinguishes this suit, which is also of dark blue tricotie, and touches of old blue and black embroidery relieve its severity.
